Monthly Service Project

Once a month, the SJMT organizes a family-friendly service project in partnership with a local community-based organization.

Weekly Food Drive

Every week, there are barrels on the patio to collect non-perishable food that is distributed through Mama's Kitchen and Western Service Workers.

Telling Our Stories: A Spiritual Exploration of Diversity

Telling Our Stories is a once a month session that invites people to share their stories around transformative moments, people, and events in their lives with the intention of getting to know how diversity lives inside of each of us.

Generosity Offerings

Every Sunday, the offering that is received is donated to non-profit organizations that share our values and are working to bring about the beloved community.

Social Justice Leadership Training

Join us to gain skills and insights to make you a more effective and compassionate leader and to deepen the connection between your spirituality and social justice work. Trainings will be offered once a quarter.

SJMT Bi-Monthly Meetings

Every other month, the leaders of the SJMT meet to make decisions about generosity offerings, coordinate activities, share information, and deepen their leadership skills. All are welcome!
