Children's Version of the Covenant of Good Relations
For the First Unitarian Universalist Church of San Diego

Everyone at the First Unitarian Universalist Church of San Diego promises each other that we will treat each other kindly.

We promise to act in ways that show what we believe is important; to learn; and to help in ways that are caring of others and make us feel good.

We respect and Honor ourselves and others when we:

- Act, listen and speak as if the people who love us the most were there;
- Say our feelings face to face;
- Keep a thank you in our hearts and on our lips.

We value ourselves and others when we:

- Invite and welcome all people into our church;
- Have fun together with kindness;
- Take care of our planet.

We learn when we:

- Ask questions about how the church works, and learn the jobs of the ministers, staff and volunteers.
- We understand that each of us has things we can do and things we cannot do;
- We treat one another with kindness in solving problems.

We help our church when we:

- Give our money and time as possible;
- Act in our lives what we learn in church;
- Welcome everyone to our church.
