

UU Men's Fellowship Fall Renewal

October 29-31 Camp deBenneville Pines

The Masks We Wear, How They Help Us, How They Limit Us

We have survived isolation and, even though Zoom has allowed continuing connections, we have missed the human connection with our brothers that comes from just being together. Well the long wait is over! We can travel up into the crisp clean air of the San Bernardino Mountains to renew, refresh, and reconnect with our community of brothers. Camp deBenneville Pines is welcoming us back As usual, the weekend will include workshops, deep sharing, music and drumming, silence, ritual, songs, laughter, and great food and just spending "quality time" together. A focus of this "Renewal" this will be a time to "come as you are" as we explore the masks we all wear. Within the safety of our "kinship groups" we will be encouraged to shed metaphorically the masks that we are constrained by society to wear and to share from the heart with compassionate listeners.

We all seem to have masks and these masks have many functions. Some masks protect from outside attack; some masks cover up flaws we wish to hide; some masks project the images we want others to see; and some masks cover up what we just don't want to face. We will explore questions about how masks can help and also hinder our relationships and other deeper issues that come-up in a supportive, caring, and non-judgmental manner.

Enrollment is limited and there are special Covid restrictions. All participants must fully be vaccinated two weeks prior and symptom free in the week prior. Please see accompanying Covid Precautions guidelines. There will be the option of early arrival on Thursday, October 28 in the afternoon for adjusting to the altitude and helping set up the camp on Friday morning. Please join us in the beauty of the mountains and the safety and fellowship of our Brothers at Camp deBenneville Pines to unpack these issues, support each other and just hang out together. Our Unitarian Universalist Men's Renewal welcomes men of all ages, backgrounds, and diversities.
