

SUNDAY PATIO TABLE POLICY (revised June 2022)

Intent

One of the ways we all serve our Congregation is by providing and staffing tables on the patio each Sunday to relay the important work that our ministry teams are engaged in throughout the church, the city and the world. Tables are meant to inform First Church members and friends about group activities and motivate them to participate when appropriate. It is the intent of this policy to make clear what the expectations and responsibilities are in relation to patio table use.

Atmosphere

In order to support an environment of spiritual nourishment, dignity and community connections on Sunday mornings, the number of available tables may be limited from time to time. The number of tables may also be limited due to the depth and breadth of church-related Sunday programming – such as for special services, receptions, or rituals that require use of the patio. This is so that the overall Sunday experience on our campuses does not become visually overwhelming or distracting to visitors and members.

If you are staffing a table it is expected that you will be respectful of everyone and treat those who approach you with quiet enthusiasm, while not disturbing those who do not approach your table. This means that there will be no leafleting, soliciting, or handing out of brochures, flyers or gathering of signatures beyond the stationary table.

While there are many Sunday patio tables, some tables are core to the mission of the church and have priority – these are (listed alphabetically)

Usage

This opportunity is reserved for groups specifically related to the First UU Church of San Diego through one of our Ministry Teams in order to relay the important work that our ministry teams are engaged in throughout the church, the city and the world.

Outside groups wishing to provide material for and staff a table on Sundays must make application no less than one month prior to the Sunday they wish to be present and must receive approval from a Co-Leader of the appropriate Ministry Team. Outside groups can contact Jenner Daelyn, Connections Coordinator at jenner@firstuusandiego.org to find out which Ministry Team leader they need to be in touch with.

Those church groups that do not regularly present a Sunday patio table and are interested in doing so, must contact Rose at rose@firstuusandiego.org two weeks before the Sunday they wish to table. While tables are available on a first-come, first-serve basis, it may be necessary to limit the total number of tables on any given Sunday due to church programming.

Logistics

Tables are available on a first-come, first-serve basis. Tables used must be small (unless previously arranged), organized and presented with a clean covering.

Tables may not be placed in front of the memorial wall or the memorial fountain.

There are a limited number of patio umbrellas. One may not be available for your use.

Any paper material made available at a table must be held with a paperweight or clips to avoid paper blowing onto the patio. Any signage should be neat, professional, clean and no larger than the table itself. A volunteer must be present at the table after each worship service to answer questions. If an easel is required, arrangements must be made prior to the Sunday needed.

A volunteer must be available to receive their table assignment between 8:30 and 9:00 AM or the table will be forfeited. The specific table to be used will be designated by Program Assistant Kate Collier or the on duty staff person. Tabling material must be removed no later than an hour after service ends. Materials must be removed from the campus as it cannot be stored at church. For questions and concerns about your pre-requested set up on Sundays, Rose Riedel is on campus and available to assist you.

Signage

Other than flyers, brochures or a sign no larger than the table itself, at the Sunday patio table, signs are allowed only on church bulletin boards. Any additional signage must be approved by Rose Riedel.

Fundraising & Politics

You must take appropriate steps to ensure that table activities and materials do not violate our congregation's non-profit status.

No fundraising activities can be engaged in without express consent from Robie Evans, Director of Operations, at robie@firstuusandiego.org. A copy of First Church's fundraising policy can be found at: www.firstuusandiego.org/US/policies/fundraising.

Take appropriate steps to ensure that your activities and table materials do not violate our congregation's non-profit status by following the three simple rules on Issue Advocacy, Lobbying and Political Campaign Intervention. Information on these can be found in a UUA document called, "The Real Rules: Congregations and IRS Guidelines on Advocacy, Lobbying, and Elections. This document is available at: www.uua.org/documents/washingtonoffice/real_rules.pdf

We encourage volunteers to relay important information about Ministry Team opportunities to our South Bay campus. Here's how:

- South Bay Newsletter / Window
- Bulletin Board and informational flyer posted in Social Hall
- By requesting a pulpit announcement that is relevant to both campuses.
- By visiting and connecting in person on a Sunday morning or during other programs.

If you have ANY QUESTIONS OR DOUBT about a political or advocacy issue, please speak with Rev. Dr. Omega Burkhardt at omega@firstuusandiego.org
